

Scorecard on Communication Coach

- Have I had situations where I felt my message wasn't fully understood by my audience, team, or clients?
- Do I often find myself struggling to express my ideas in a way that resonates with others?
- Have I faced challenges in delivering a pitch or presentation that I felt could have gone better with more guidance?
- Am I comfortable with public speaking, or do I often feel anxious when addressing larger groups or new audiences?
- Do I have experience in managing tough conversations with my team, partners, or clients? Could I benefit from more support in navigating these situations?
- Do I feel confident in my ability to articulate my business's mission, goals, and vision clearly and effectively?
- Am I aware of strategies to communicate complex ideas in a way that my audience can easily understand and relate to?
- Have I considered working with a corporate communication coach, or am I familiar with the skills they offer that might support my business goals?
- Do I know the areas of communication (e.g., public speaking, team engagement, pitching) that I would like to improve as an entrepreneur?
- Do I feel that my communication skills establish me as a confident, credible leader in my industry?
- When speaking with investors, team members, or clients, do I feel that my message comes across with authority and trustworthiness?
- Could a communication coach help me establish a stronger leadership presence that reflects my expertise?
- Am I interested in building a personal brand that commands respect and aligns with my vision as an entrepreneur?
- Do I feel that my communication style builds trust and rapport with my team and clients?

- When engaging in difficult conversations, do I convey empathy and respect in a way that maintains healthy relationships?
- Am I confident that my message resonates with my audience in a way that makes them feel understood and valued?
- Could a communication coach help me foster a more genuine and reliable connection with others in my business network?
- Do I feel that improving my communication skills could lead to more opportunities, whether with investors, clients, or team growth?
- Would I benefit from a coach who can help me find my authentic voice and unique leadership style?
- Do I believe that investing in a communication coach could yield long-term benefits in terms of personal growth, team engagement, and business success?
- Am I ready to commit to working on my communication skills to drive better results for my business?
- Are there areas where I outperform the competition due to our unique strengths?